TEAM

Dash, They got Flex.

I know Cam. But don't worry, we're getting him back. Come on, I've assembled the team.

Cam, we heard what happened. But we're putting a plan together.

Okay team, they found Flex's chip pretty quick, but Tee Vee did get a few things.

We did receive schematics of the base

Cam, there's one more thing. Ogel is with them.

What?! How do you know?

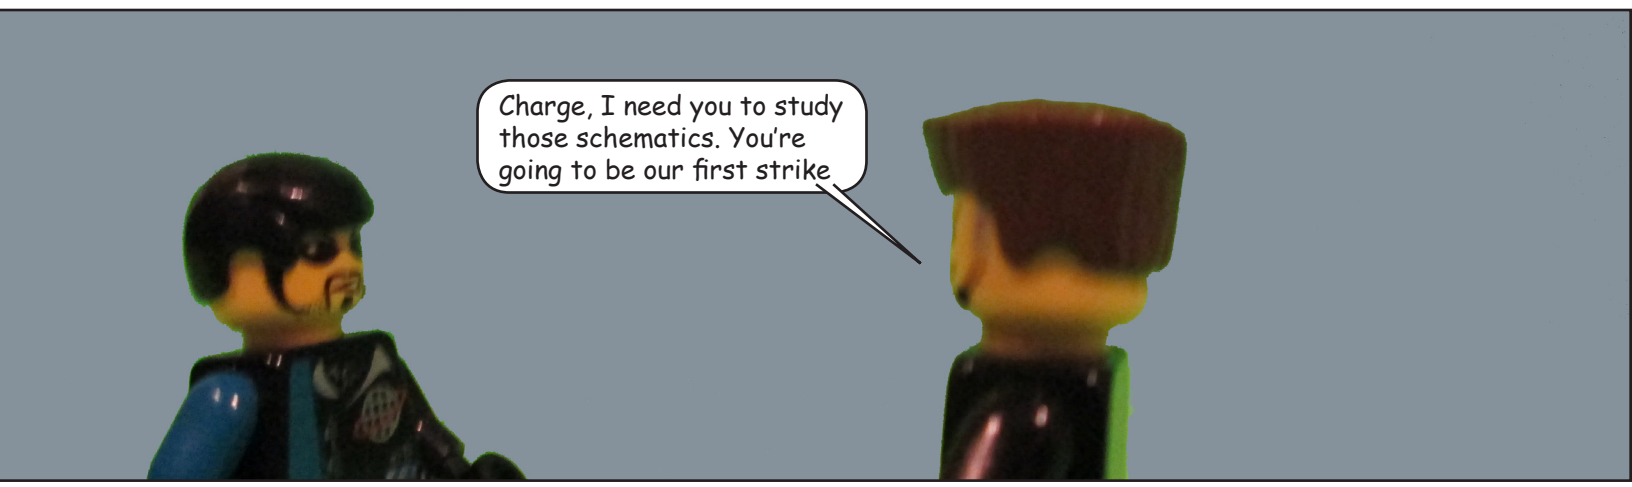

Tee Vee traced his phone to that location.

We can't focus on that now.

Charge is right. We need to focus on getting Flex back and stopping these drones.

A scene with three LEGO minifigures. On the left, a female figure with black hair in a ponytail and a black beret. In the middle, a male figure with black hair and a goatee, wearing a blue and black tactical vest. On the right, a male figure with brown hair, wearing a black jacket with a green 'Grip' logo. A speech bubble points to the brown-haired figure.

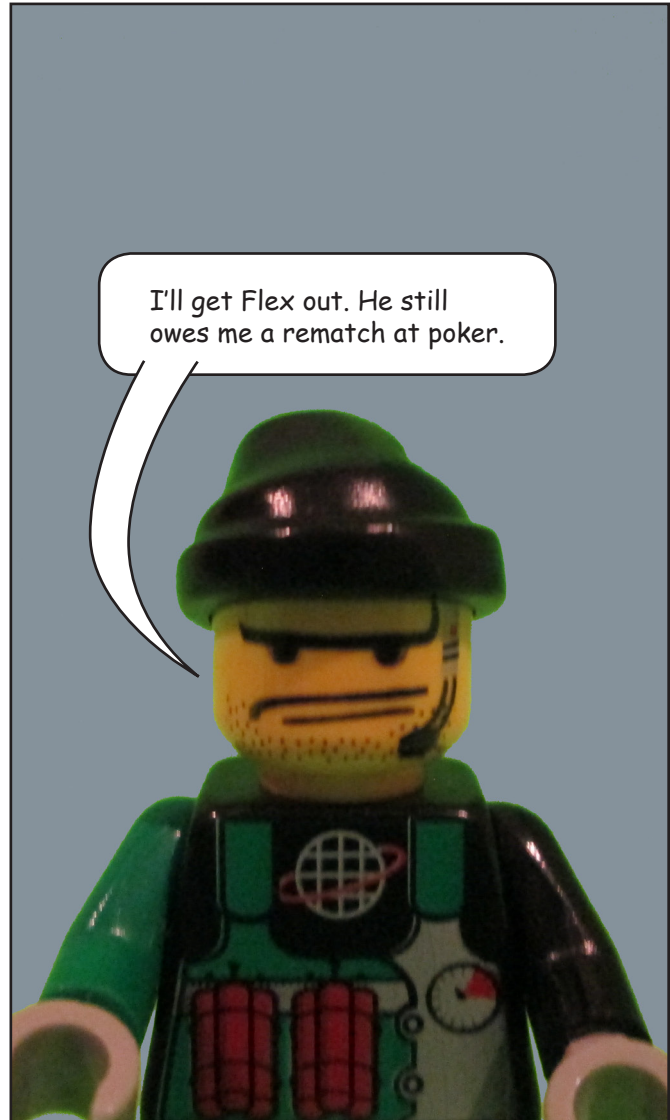

I know guys, but don't worry I've got a plan.

Charge, I need you to study those schematics. You're going to be our first strike

Crunch, In the confusion you're gonna go in on foot. You'll use the same entrance Flex did. Find Flex and get out.

A close-up of a LEGO minifigure. The figure has a black beret, a black mustache, and a black goatee. He is wearing a green and black tactical vest with a globe emblem and two red cylindrical objects. A speech bubble points to him.

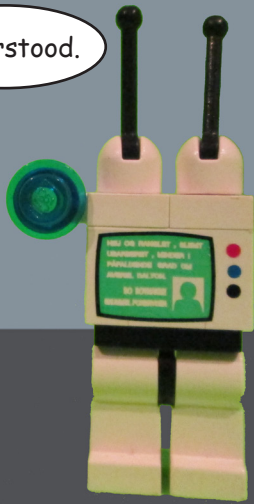

I'll get Flex out. He still owes me a rematch at poker.

Radia, you're going to take Crunch in. Tee Vee has located Flex's sub. Take Crunch to it and await further instruction from there.

Understood.

Cam, you'll coordinate from back here.

You really think we'll get Flex back?

I've never lost an agent. And I don't plan to today.

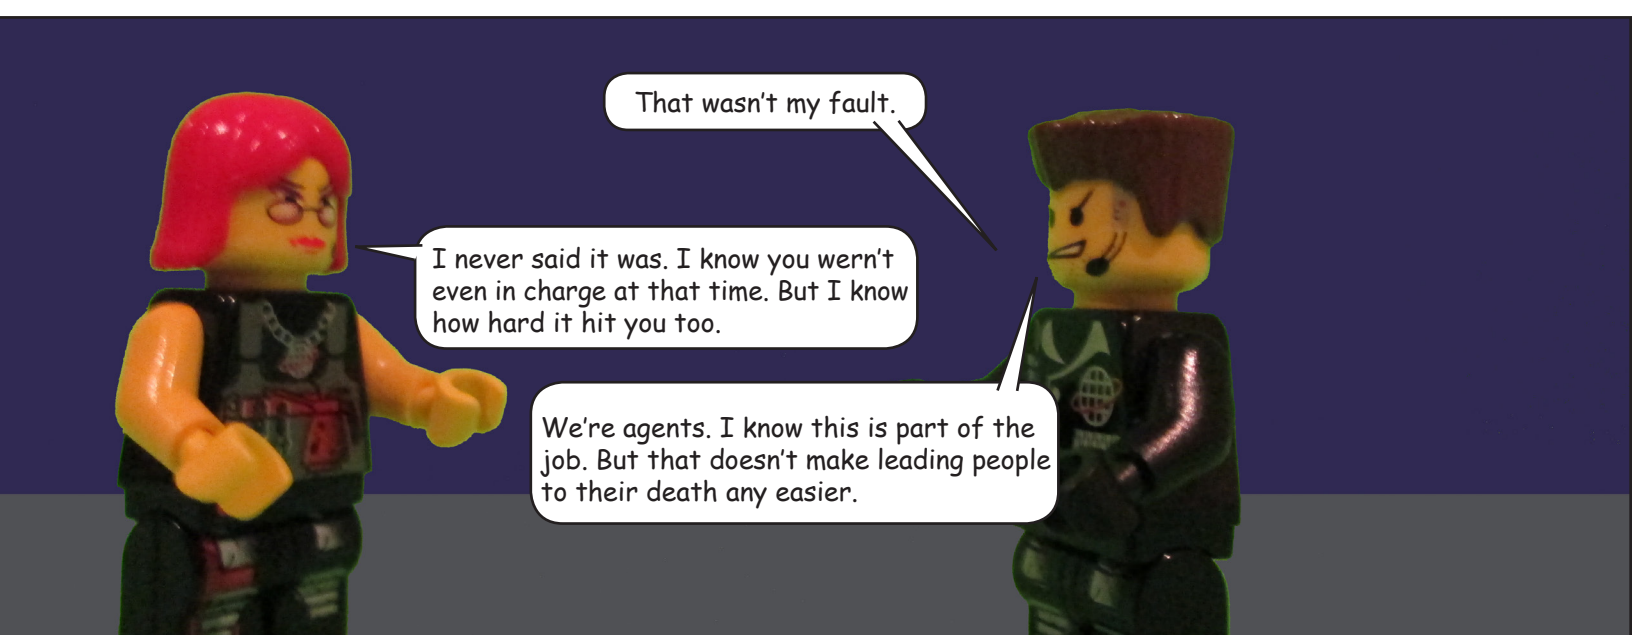

He seems pretty shook up.

I'll go talk to him.

You know, that whole think about never losing an agent before. I've seen your file. I know about Agent Wolf.

That wasn't my fault.

I never said it was. I know you wern't even in charge at that time. But I know how hard it hit you too.

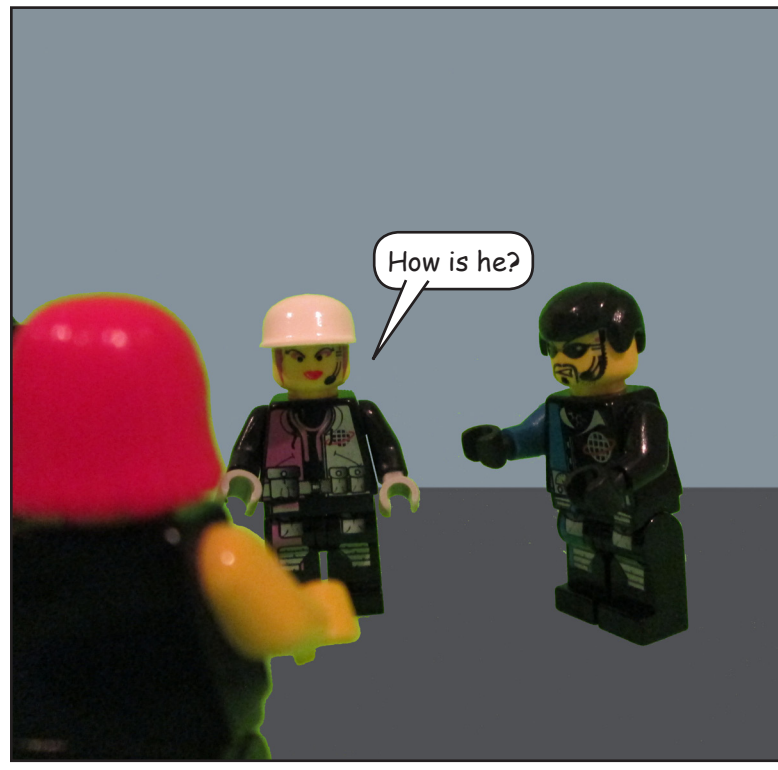

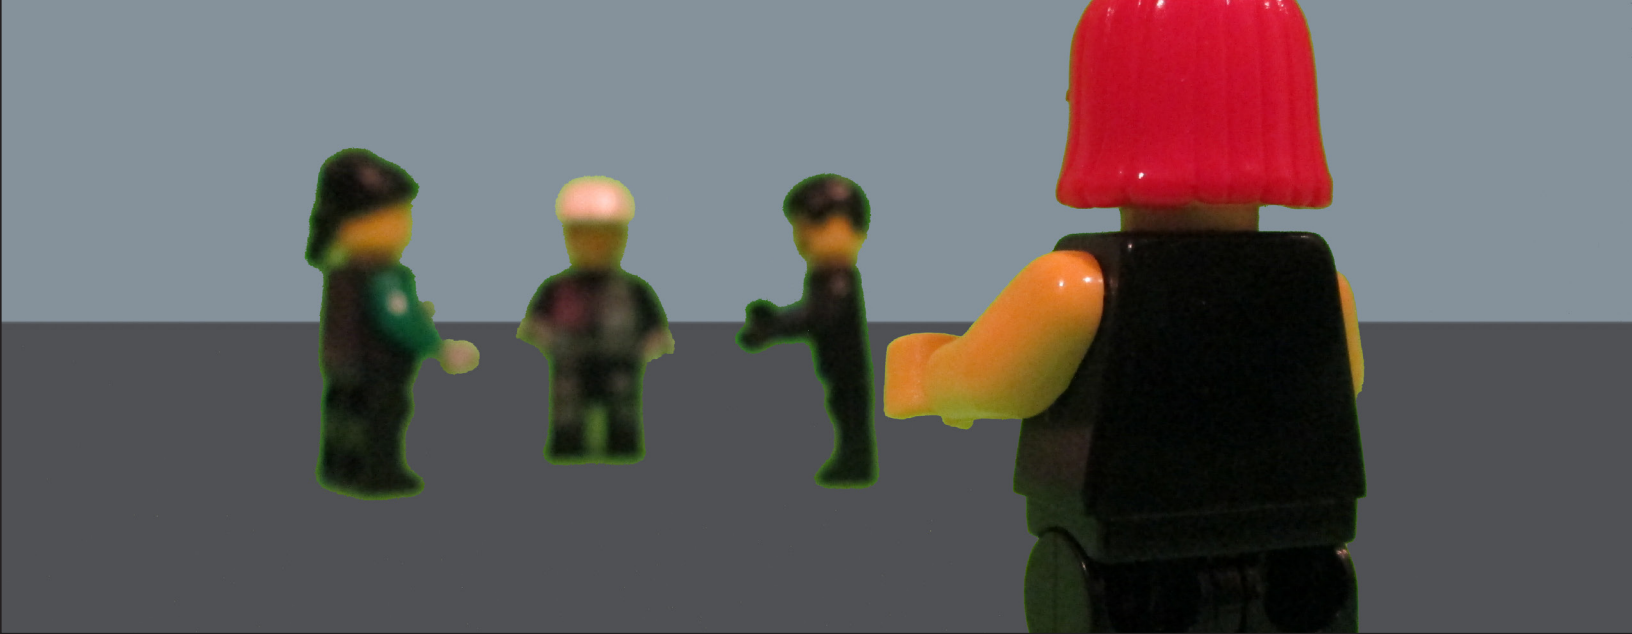

We're agents. I know this is part of the job. But that doesn't make leading people to their death any easier.

Is that why you didn't put me in the field for this mission?

We've got a mission, and we're wasting time.

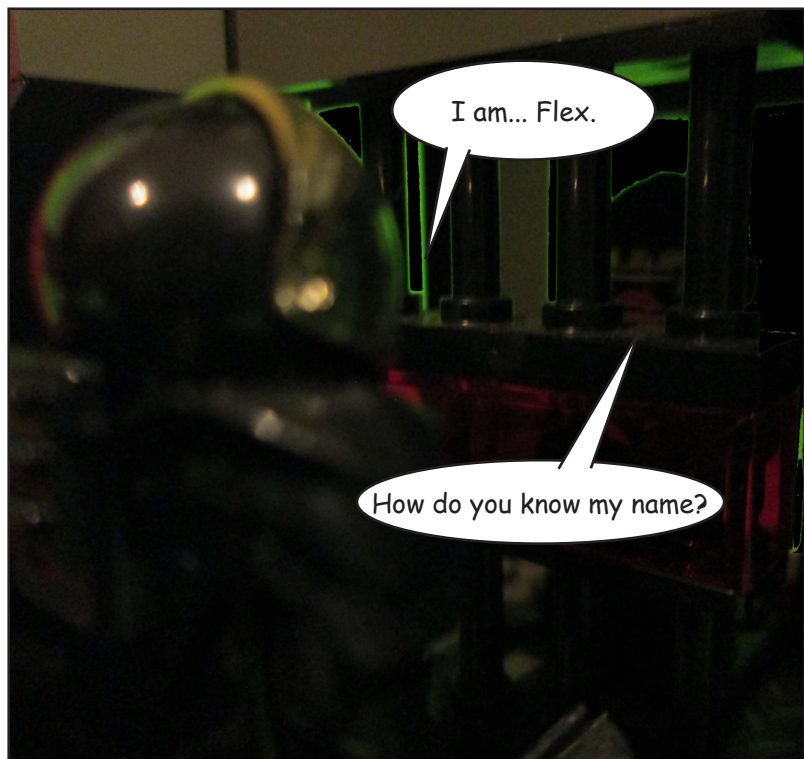

Master, we put the prisoner in the cell.

Take me to him.

So, you're the leader.

I am... Flex.

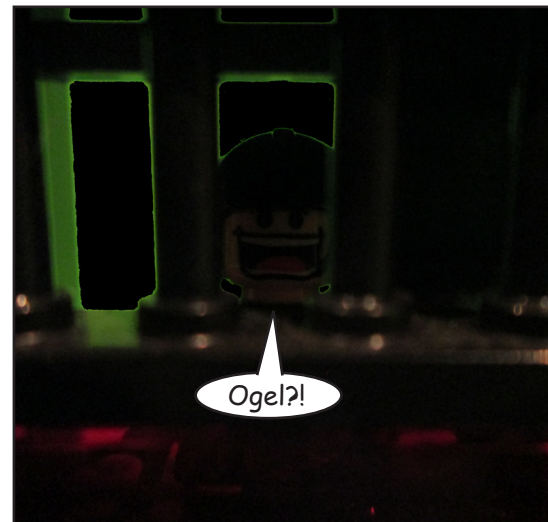

How do you know my name?

You mean you really never figured it out?

It's me.

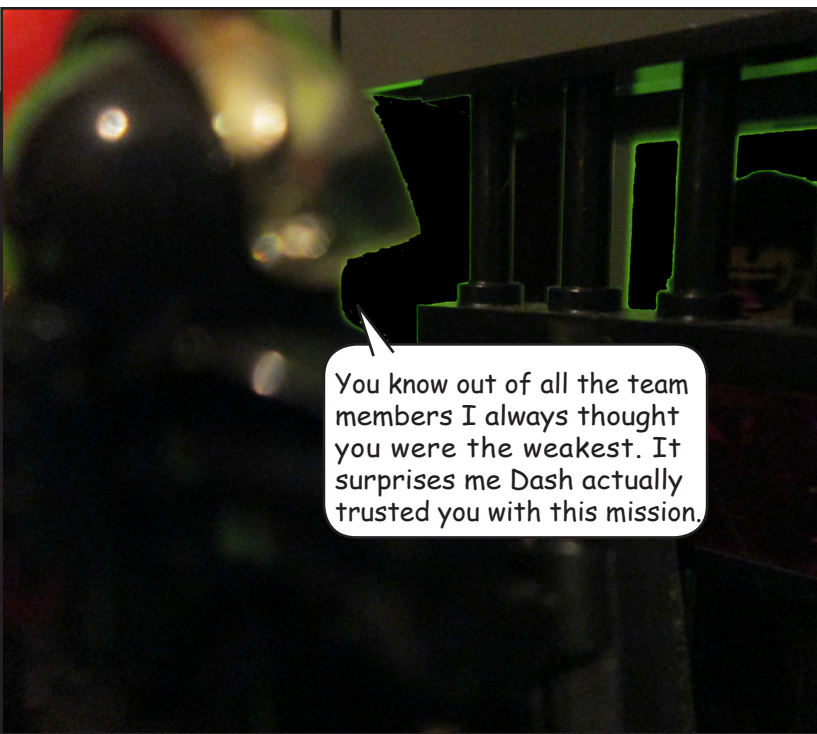

Ogel?!

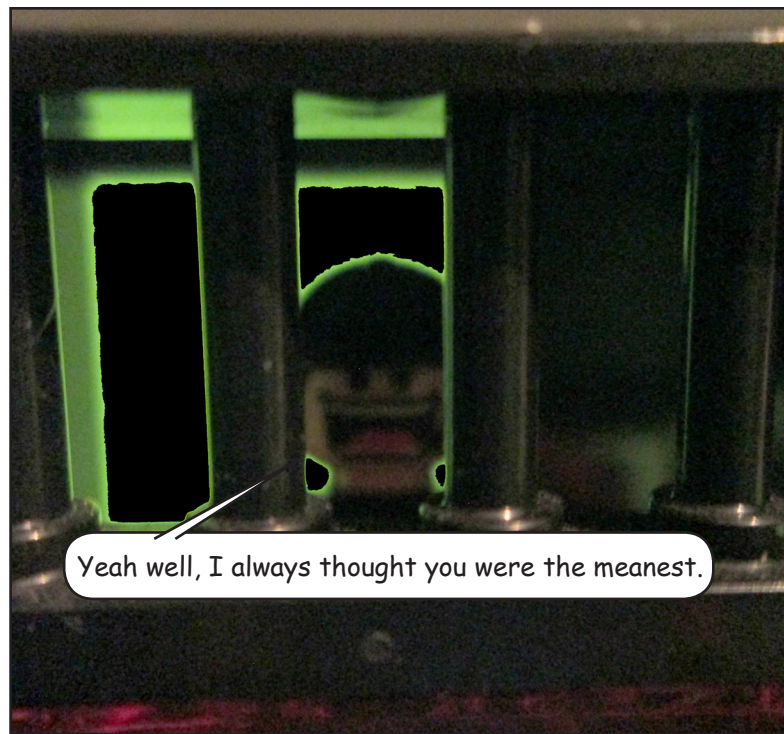

You Alpha Team members really don't get it. You haven't found out anything about these drones, while I now rule them. But Dash has always been one for flash over substance.

Take this laptop for example. It contains all the knowledge of what is coming. But Dash would rather destroy it in a fantastic explosion than study it.

You know out of all the team members I always thought you were the weakest. It surprises me Dash actually trusted you with this mission.

Yeah well, I always thought you were the meanest.

Ouch. Well it was fun to chat. But I really must be getting back to work.

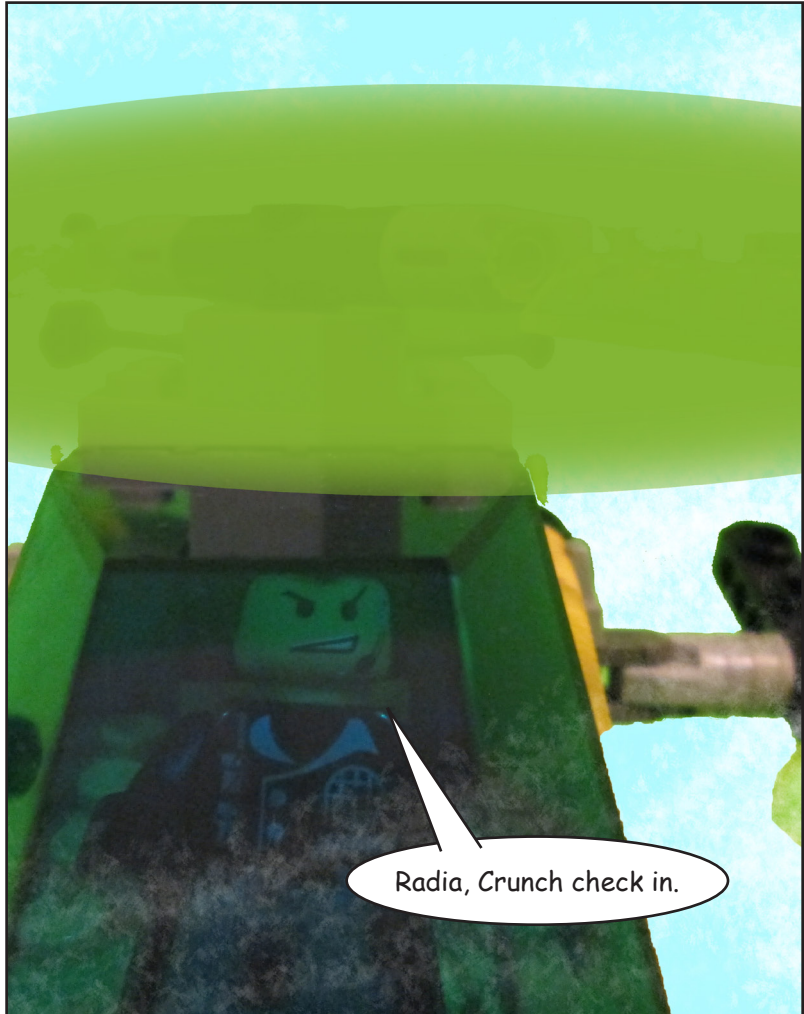

We will stop you Ogel.

I'm in position.

Copy that Charge. Stand by.

Radia, Crunch check in.

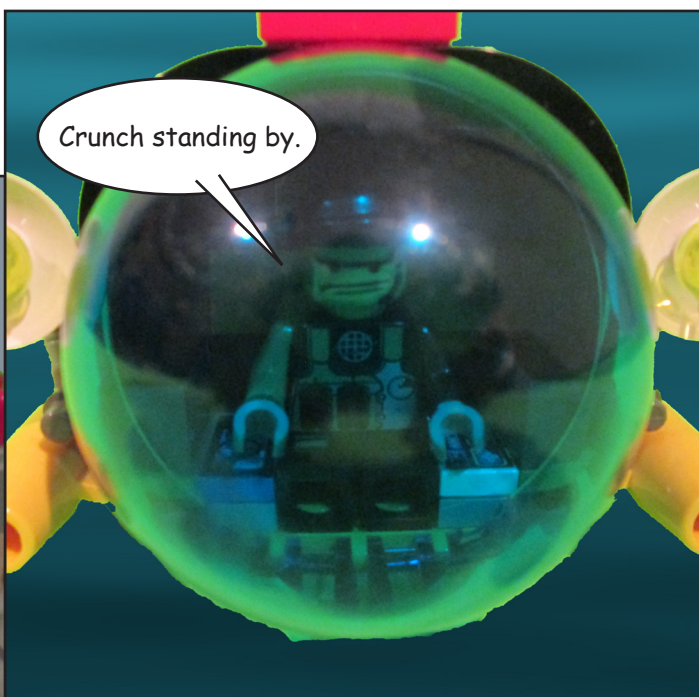

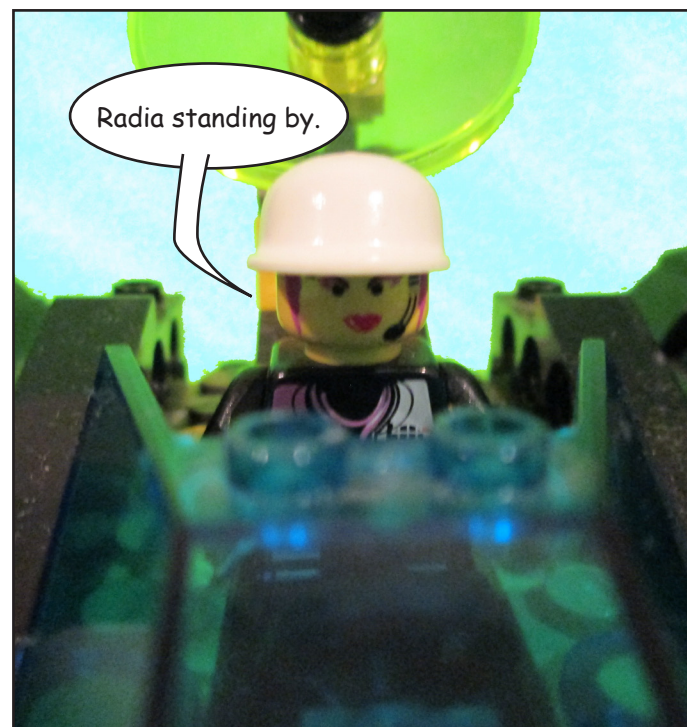

We just reached the sub.

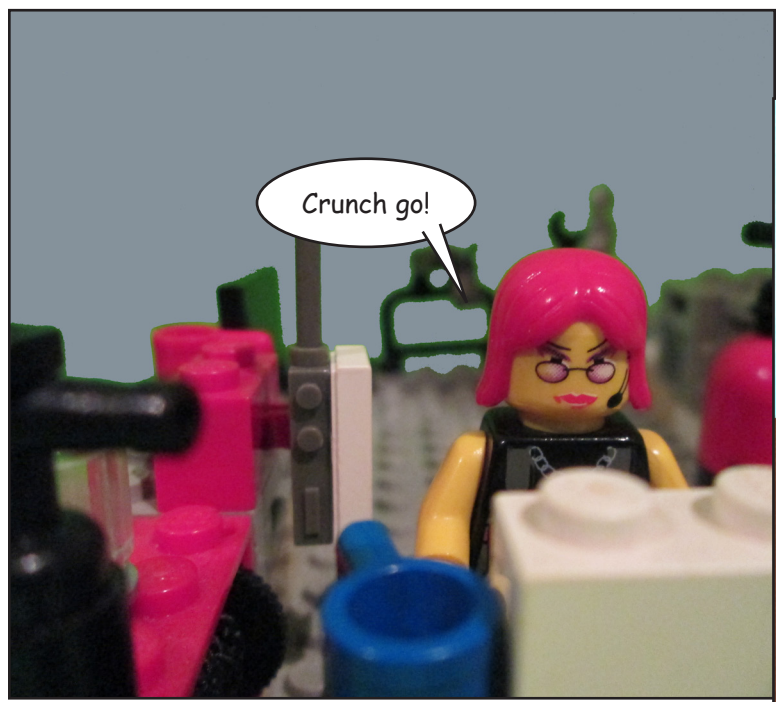

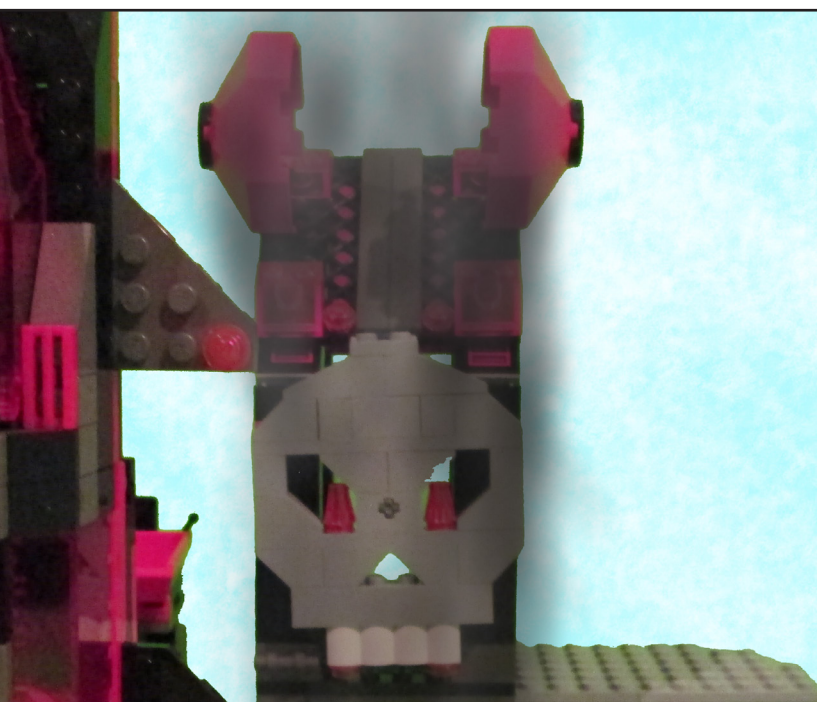

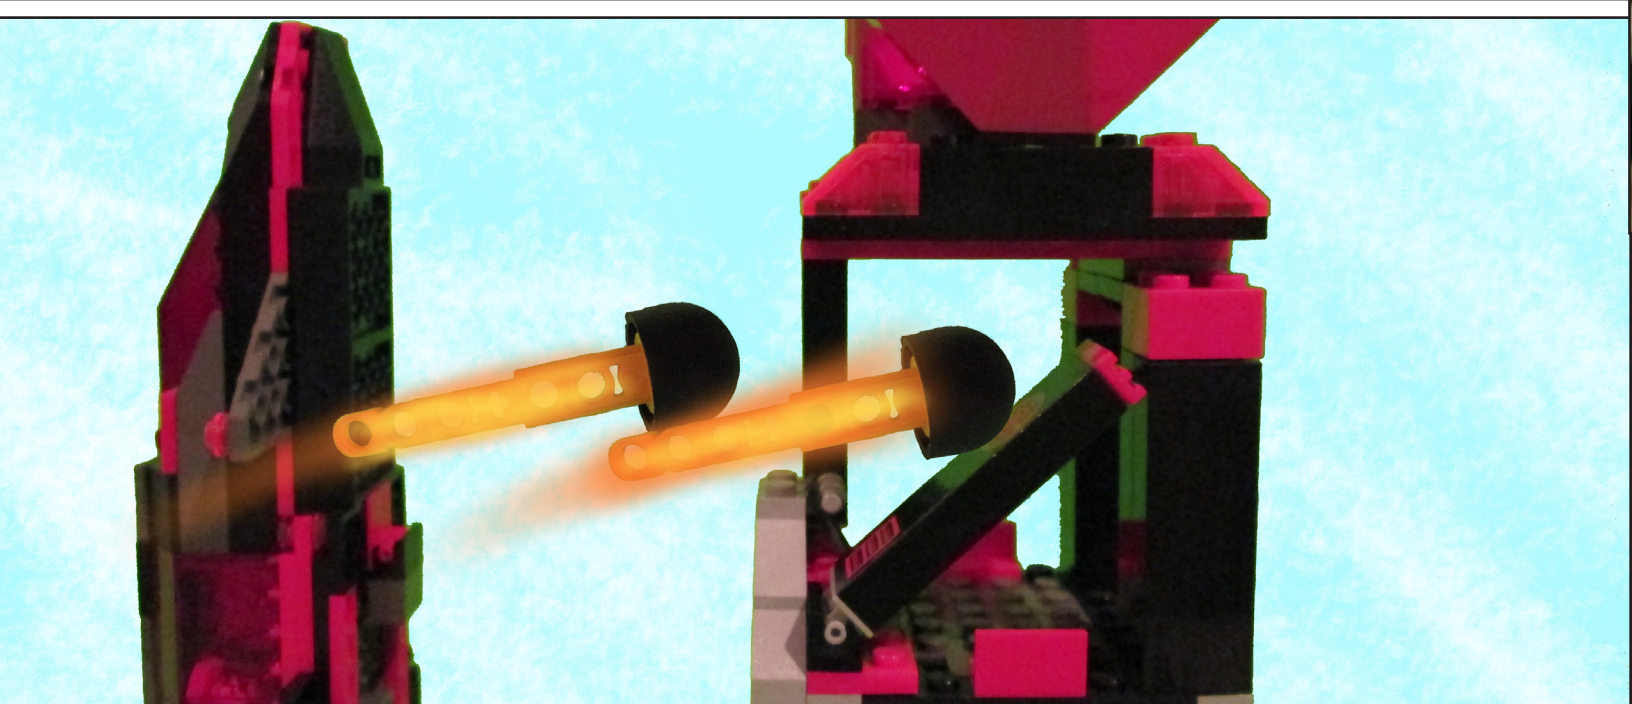

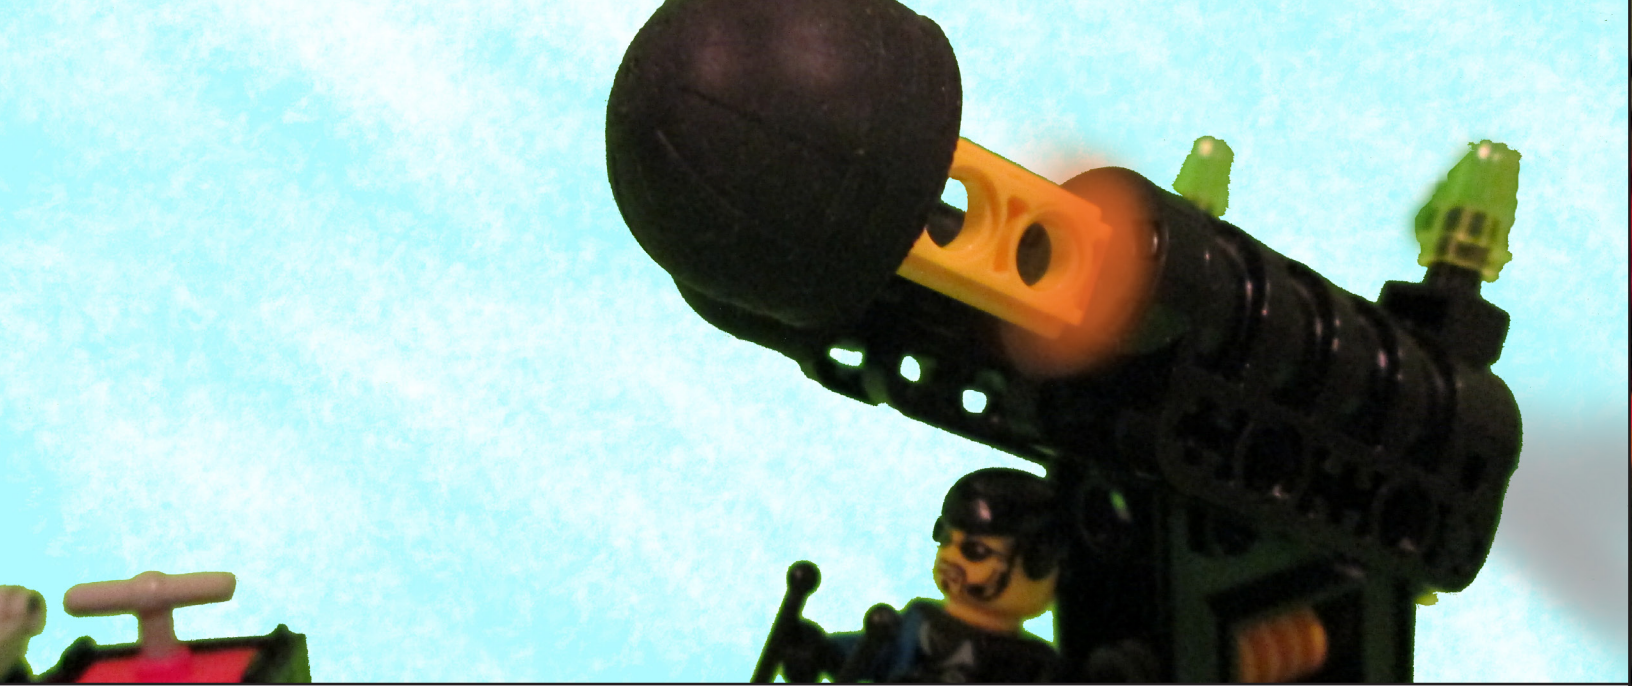

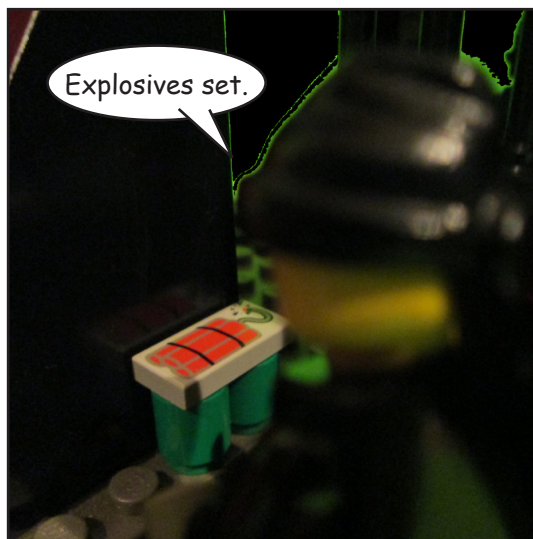

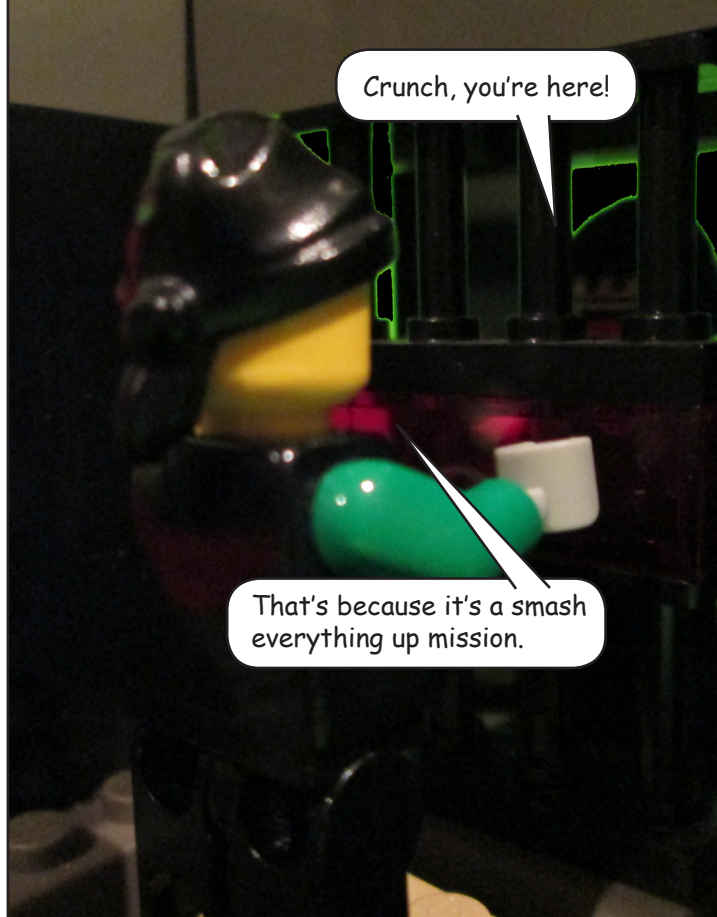

I'll be in position in two minutes.

Everyone check in.

Come on, we've got to move.

Crunch wait.

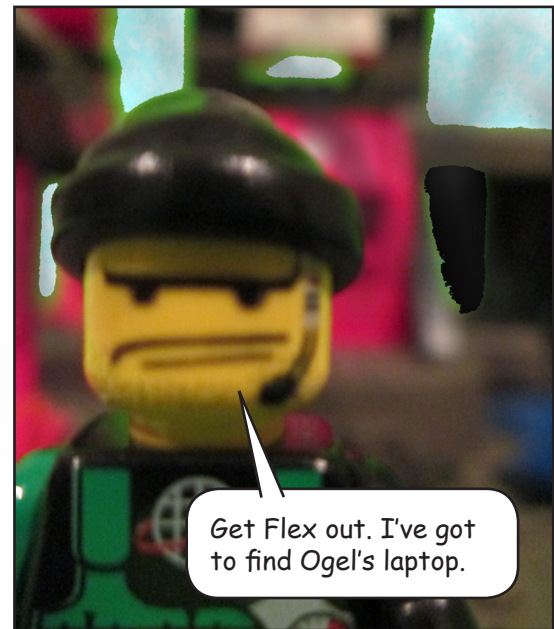

Flex, we have to move.

We have to find Ogel's laptop. Everything he's planning is on it.

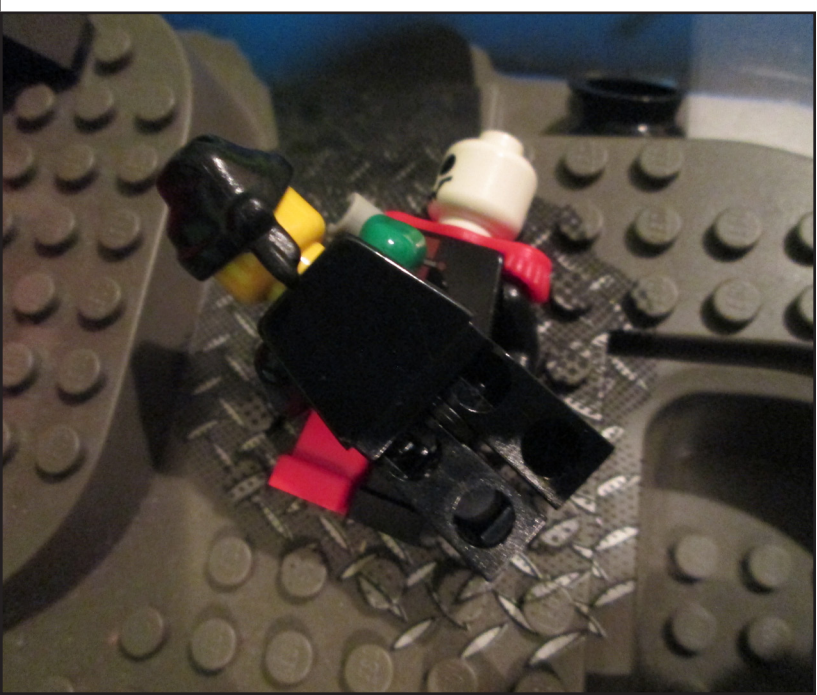

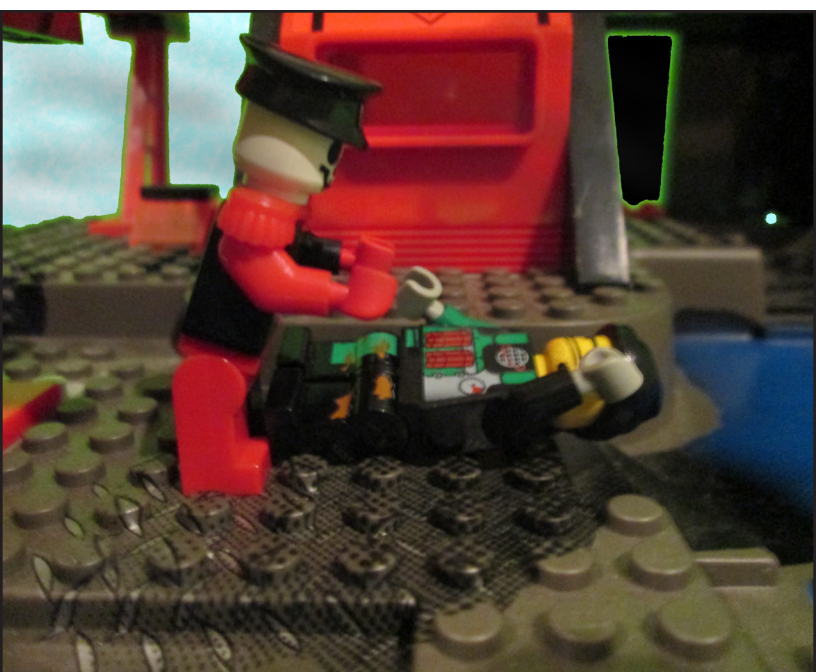

You guys ready to go?

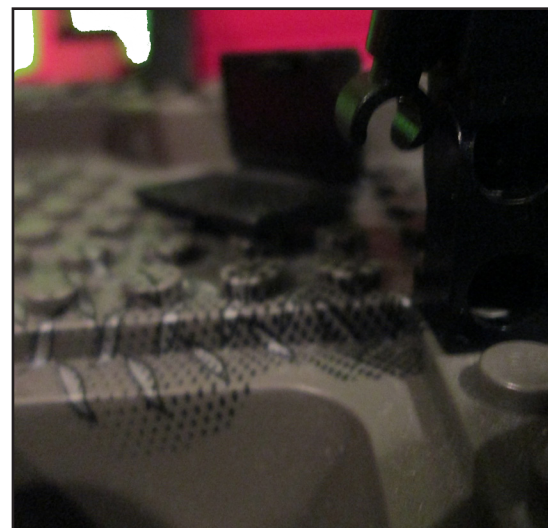

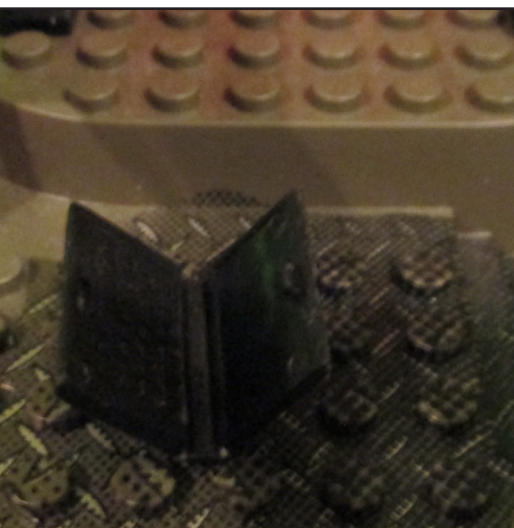

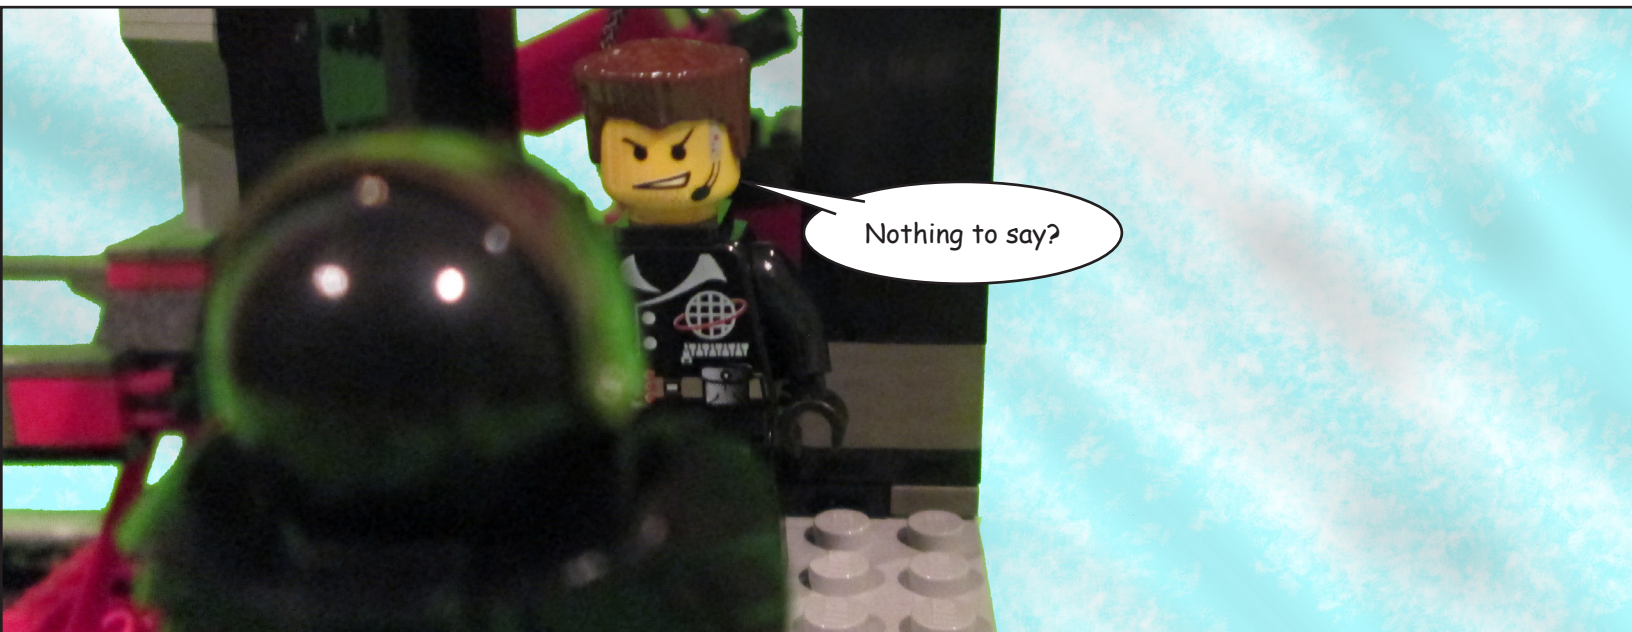

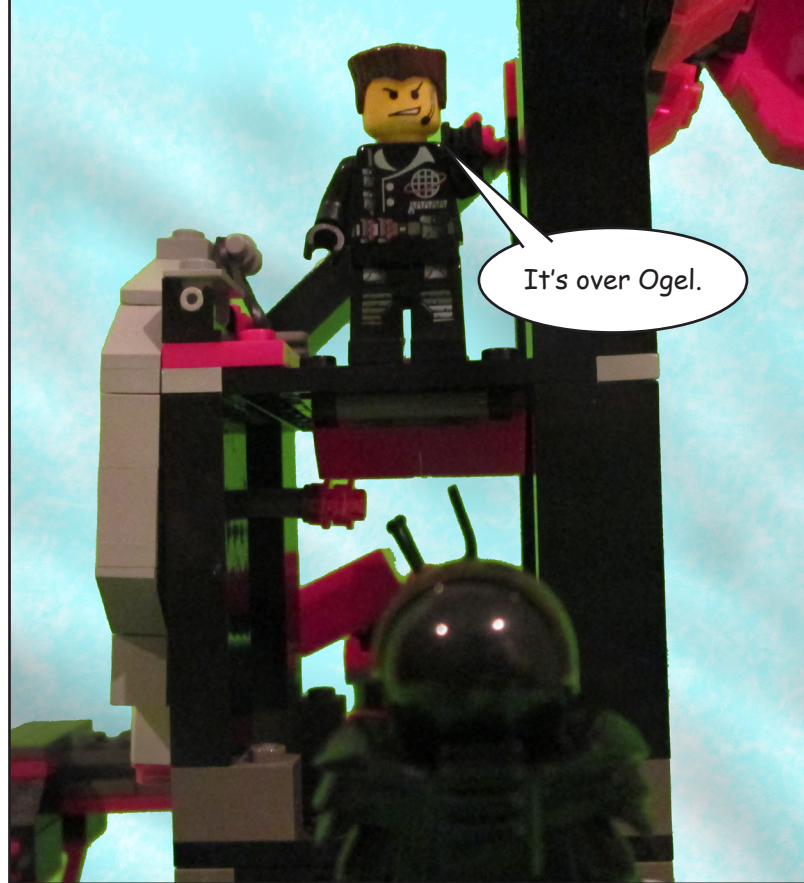

Get Flex out. I've got to find Ogel's laptop.

Get out safe Crunch. We have a card game Friday.

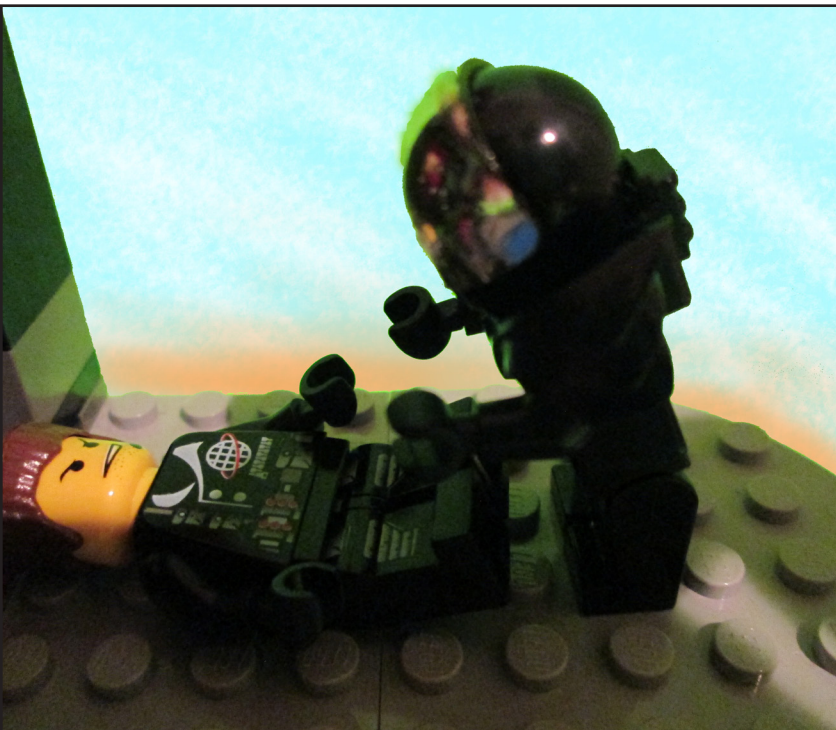

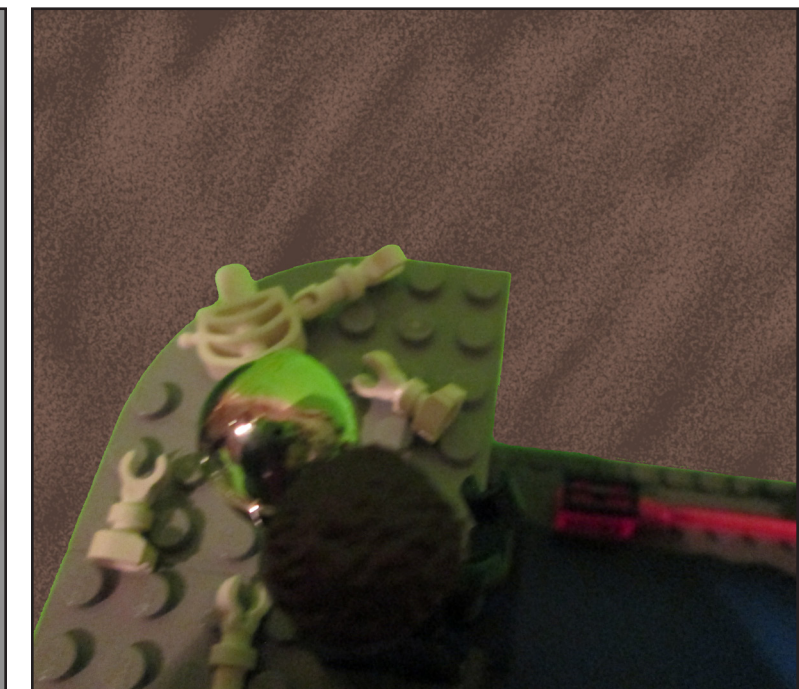

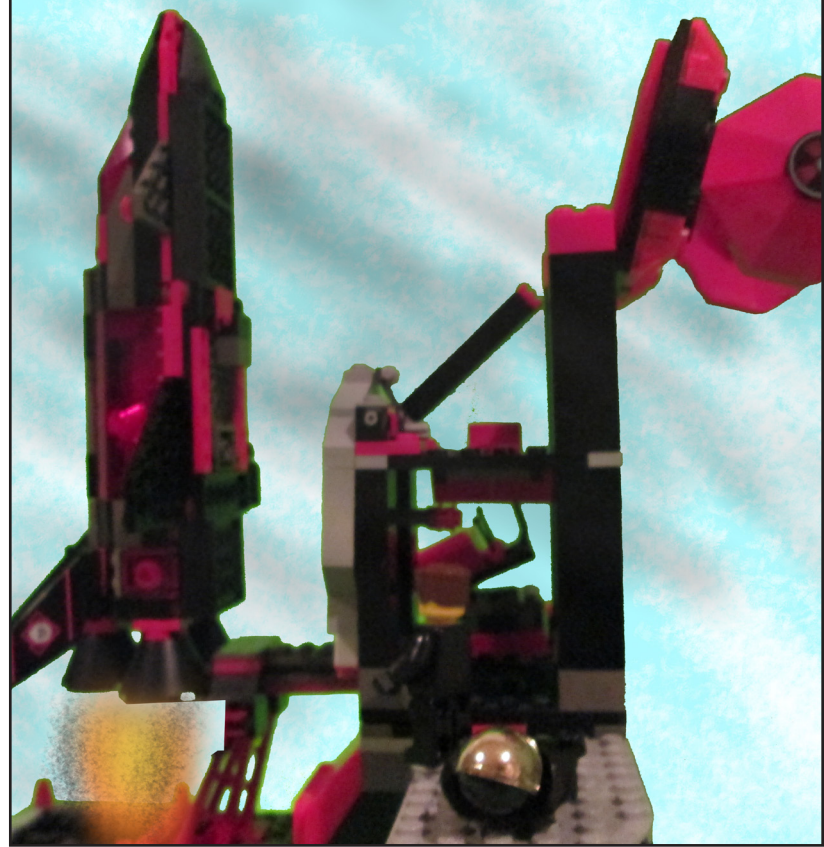

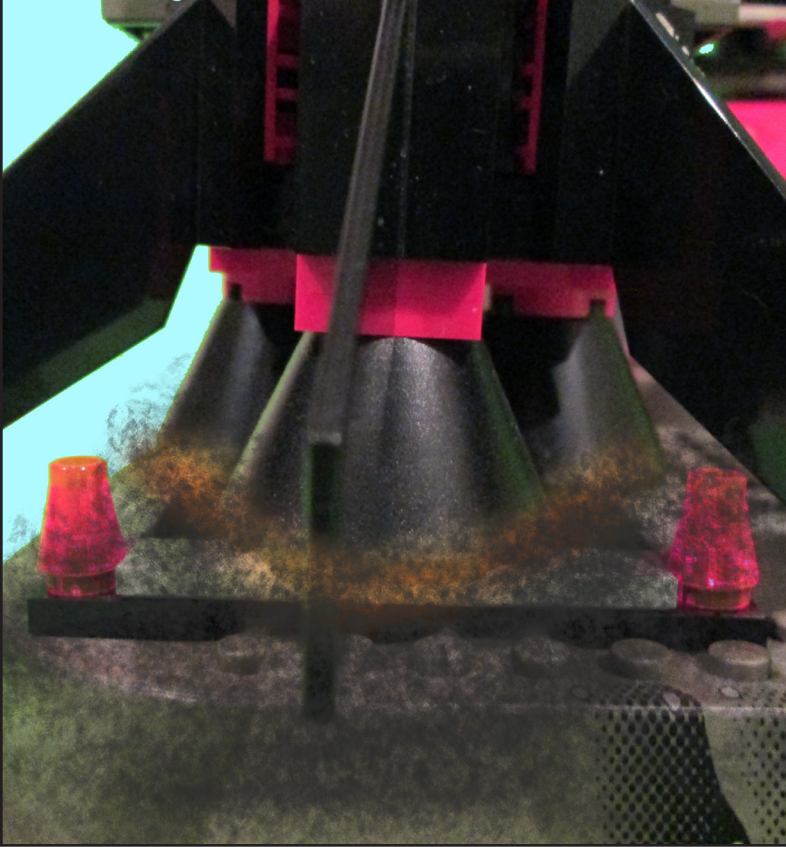

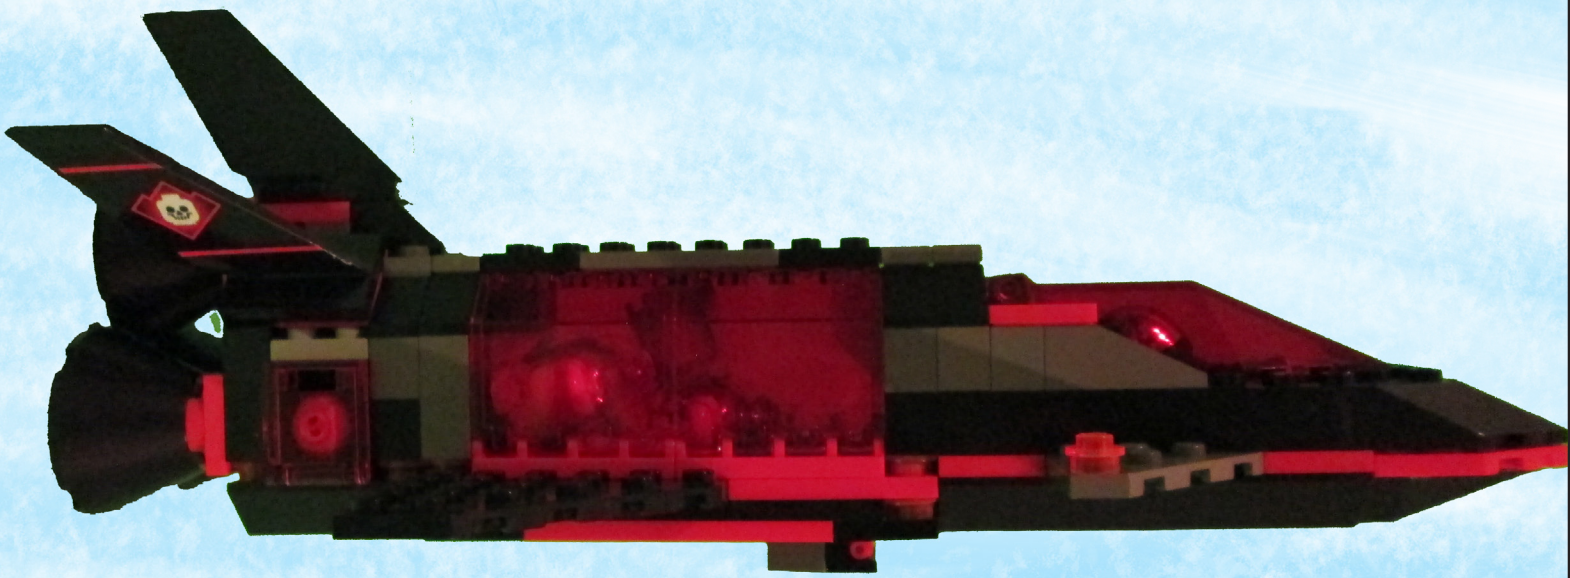

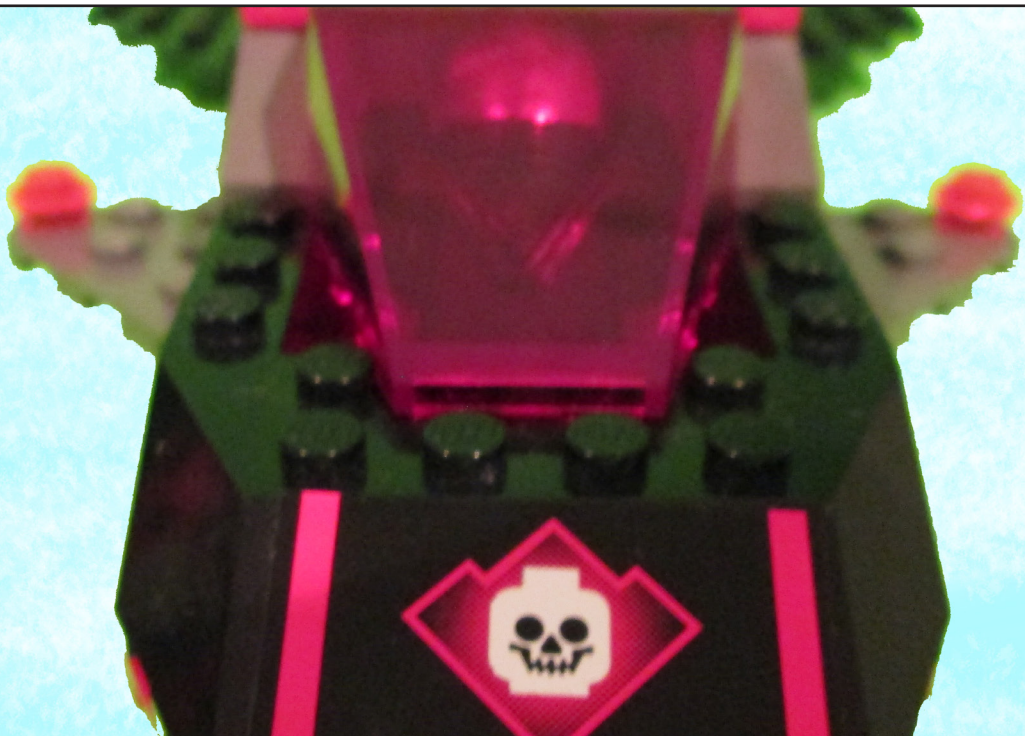

Status report my Skeleton Drone.

We only managed to escape with four orbs. Most of the drones fled to the underwater base.

It's time for phase two.

I know a lot has happened the past few days, and we're all still wrapping our heads around it. Flex it's good to have you back.

It's good to be back Dash.

Did you get anything on Ogel's plans?

I did not sir. I'm sorry.

Charge, I heard about your rescue. Good work.

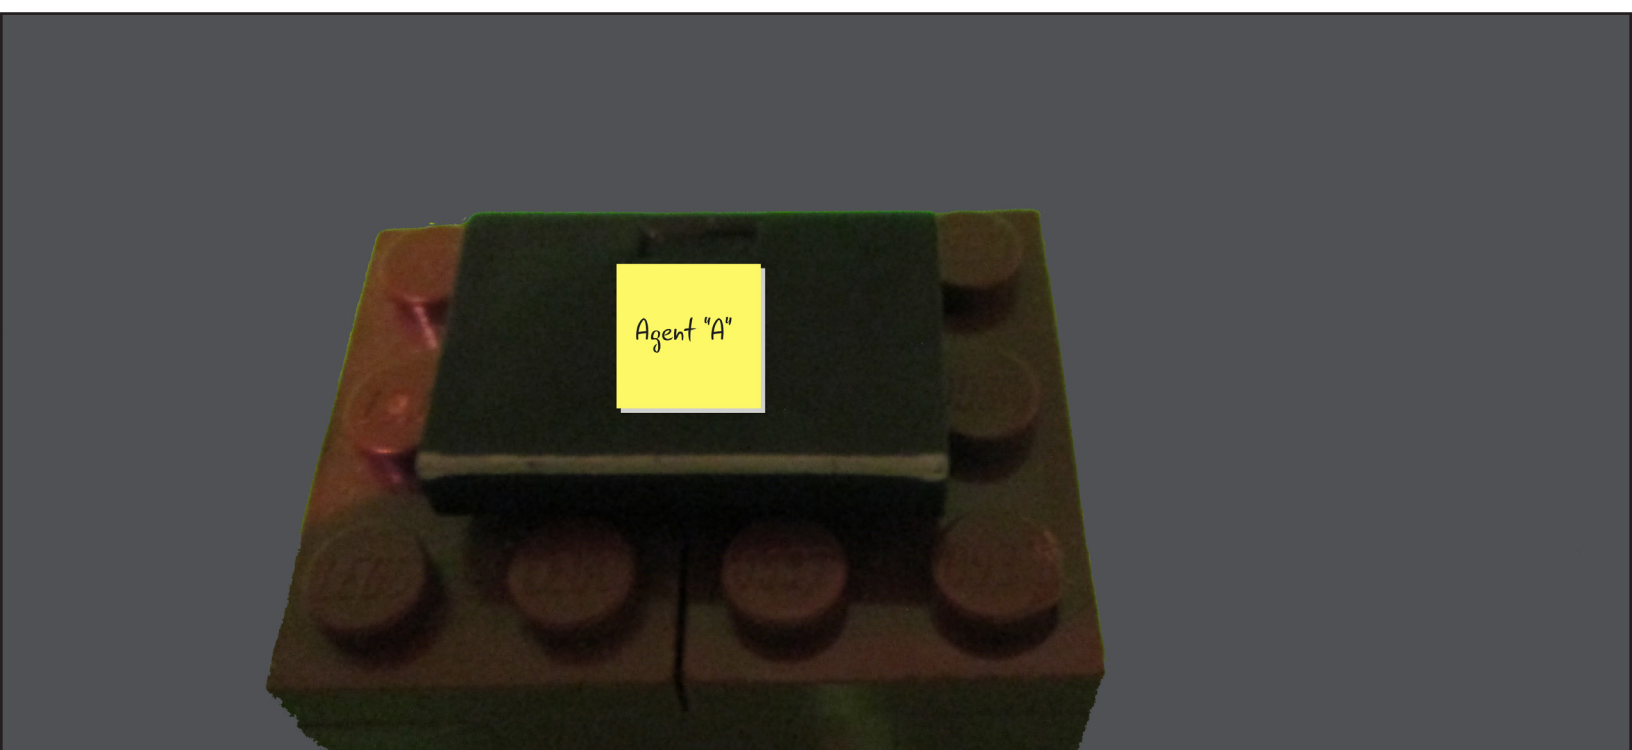

Thanks Dash. But we still know nothing of Ogel's plans or where he fled to.

You know. We've still got a card game Friday.

You're on.
